

Jessica Ashley

Goals

Jessica is obsessed about Street Art, because she wants to keep these social memories forever and let others to explore their meanings and implications. Also she wants to record the moment that she found an interesting art. And she always wants to share street art with other people who are also passionate and interested about art.

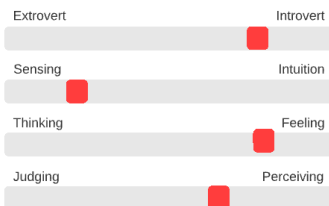

Frustrations

However street art is time-sensitive, sometimes we find a great graffiti on our way home, but when we come back a few days later, it's gone or replaced by other graffiti, we want to keep these social memories forever and let others to explore their meanings and implications.
